TRANSNATIONAL PROJECT MEETING IN ANKARA

On October 6th, a transnational project meeting took place in the city of Ankara, Turkey. During this meeting, the project partners engaged in an in-depth discussion regarding the present stage of the project. They closely examined the outcomes and achievements of the project, analyzing the results and their implications.

Additionally, the meeting served as a platform to strategize and plan for the tasks ahead in the project's timeline. Partners discussed both project results, the first project result is the manual for educators and facilitators. The manual offers a new possibility for adult educators' professional development. It will contribute to their ability to address the learning needs of the target group, their skill improvement to be ready to compete in the 21st century labor market. The second project result is the guidebook and toolkit aims to empower migrant women by enhancing their employability skills through workshops and practical activities, including role play and real-life scenarios. It focuses on building confidence, motivation, and self-esteem, using various digital resources and gradually transitioning from classroom to online learning. The program is designed to prepare participants for modern work environments and improve their integration into the workforce. And Planned local piloting activities to run this program.

Furthermore, the meeting included planning multiplier events, which are critical for disseminating the project's outcomes and increasing its impact. These events were carefully scheduled to maximize their effectiveness in reaching a wider audience and promoting the project's objectives.
