

STEP UP

Sustainability skills entrepreneurial mindset to foster migrant women employability and upskilling possibilities

Newsletter #8

Dear friends and supporters,

We are happy to welcome you to our last project newsletter. We take this opportunity to recap our achievements and the significant strides we have made in fostering the employability and upskilling possibilities for migrant women.

Project Results

Through our dedicated efforts, we have developed programs aimed at nurturing the entrepreneurial mindset of migrant women.

One of our first major outputs was the creation of a comprehensive Manual for Educators. This manual provides valuable insights into the common barriers faced by migrant women in the labour market and “Leadership is about making others better as a result of your presence and making sure that impact lasts in our absence.”

Sheryl Sandberg, COO of Facebook offers practical suggestions for overcoming these obstacles. It serves as a crucial resource for professionals working with this target group, helping them better support migrant women in their journey towards employment and personal growth.

We have also successfully developed a Guidebook and Toolkit designed to enhance the employability skills of migrant women through workshops and practical activities.

These resources focus on building confidence, motivation, and self-esteem, utilizing digital tools and transitioning from classroom to online learning environments. The guidebook covers a wide range of topics, including job search strategies, resume writing, interview preparation, and networking.

Local Activities

Each partner has been actively implementing local activities designed to empower migrant women through enhanced employability and upskilling opportunities.

Participants engaged in various practical exercises, such as crafting CVs and effective self-presentation techniques, tailored to the unique needs of migrant women.

We extend our heartfelt gratitude to all partners, participants, and supporters who have contributed to the success of the STEP-UP project. Together, we have made significant strides in promoting the employability and empowerment of migrant women across Europe.

For more information and to download our resources, please visit our website at www.step-up.myerasmus.net and follow us on Facebook at www.facebook.com/stepuperasmusplus.

Multiplier Events

We organised multiple multiplier events across partner countries to disseminate our project results and reach a broader audience. These events played a crucial role in sharing our achievements, tools, and resources with educators, employers, civil society organisations, and the migrant women community.

Sustainability and Future Outlook

While the STEP-UP project officially concludes, the resources and tools developed will continue to benefit migrant women and the professionals who support them. Our website and social media channels will remain active, providing ongoing access to our manuals, guidebooks, and other materials.